Mangosteen Superfruit Secrets:

Mangosteen is an exotic superfruit found primarily in Southeast Asia and used for centuries by Asian health practitioners to treat a variety of health conditions. Known as Garcinia mangostana to the scientific community, it has been extensively researched over the last several years and has acquired the title of "Queen of All Fruits" – for good reason.

Of all the known sources of xanthones, a phytonutrient with incredibly potent antioxidant properties, the mangosteen supplies some of the highest amounts found in nature. To ensure maximum purity and efficacy, Vemma's mangosteen is wildcrafted – the practice of harvesting plants and fruits in their natural or "wild" habitats, where pesticides are not typically applied. The wildcrafted mangosteen fruit then goes through Vemma's proprietary extraction process, pioneered by Vemma's Chief Scientific Officer, Yibing Wang, M.D., Ph.D., to ensure the highest levels of nutrients are in the Vemma formula.
